

Appalachian Fiction

English 252 (1)

Fall 2021

13:00-14:15 p.m., T&Th

Dr. Anna Elfenbein (aself@wvu.edu)

Course Description:

With particular attention to West Virginia authors and their works, English 252 explore literature, movies, and music from our region. We will screen movies and documentaries and read and discuss selected poetry and prose and novels such as Denise Giardina's Storming Heaven, Glenn Taylor's Ballad of Trenchmouth Taggart, and Robert Gipe's Trampoline.

There are no Prerequisites. Course Requirements include:

eCampus readings and discussions and eReserve movie viewings
 Class attendance and Open-Mic contributions
 Interactive reading checks
 Take-home midterm and final exams